Grapes are carefully selected and harvested manually during the coolest hours of the day. Soft pressing is achieved through a pneumatic press. This is to maintain the natural, crisp freshness of the grapes, without undergoing a secondary fermentation process called malolactic fermentation, which would otherwise impart a smoother and creamier texture. The bouquet elegantly combines hints of almonds, walnuts, floral notes, and tropical fruit. On the palate, it is dry, warm, and smooth with a pleasing body. Best served with seafood, especially shellfish, pasta with light sauces, and white meats. |    |                                                                    |                                                                                                                |            |
