DESCRIPTION OF PACKAGING RULES

The capers already selected by caliber, from 6/7 mm to 14 mm, are taken from the containers by an operator and placed in an AISI 316 stainless steel tank in which, added to sea salt, they are stirred to form a homogeneous mass.

The sea salt storage of the capers not only allows the product to keep

Integrate its qualitative characteristics but enhances and develops the aroma and guarantees a longer shelf life.

After this handling operation, the operator fills the containers (pouches, bags, etc.).

- buckets - drums); all the packaging used are provided with the relevant certificates of conformity and suitability for contact with substances and food products.

The containers are then weighed so as to conform to the indicated weight, sealed by heat-sealing machine and/or closed with lids with seal.

No preservatives, additives, etc. are added to the product, and the capers supplied by us do not contain genetically modified organisms in any form and, moreover, as far as we know, we are not aware of studies and/or research aimed at carrying out genetic modifications in capers.

Finally, the capers do not contain allergens and, moreover, do not pack other products not may be contaminated in any way.

Our company operates in compliance with EU and national regulations on the matter hygienic-sanitary and it observes the EC Reg. 852/2004 and D. Legislative Decree 193/2007

Storage must be in a cool, well-ventilated, and dry place.

La conservazione deve avvenire in luogo fresco, ben ventilato e asciutto.
